MIMS GENEALOGY.

Mrs. William Richard Wright, 406 North State Street, Jackson, Miss., announces the approaching publication of the Mims genealogy. She has recently spent some weeks in Virginia, North and South Carolina gathering court records with marked results. For over 25 years she has been gathering data on the Mims and their intermarried families: Bennett, Bland, Bushrod, Harwood, Jones, Day, Ridley, Gray, Moss, Scott, Perrin, Clopton and many others. Members of the family are urged to send in their data. None will be urged to buy the book—it is solely a matter of compiling the best possible history of the family—in England and in America.

AKES TWO PET DOGS WITH HER IN DEATH

Broker's Wife a Suicide in Syosset Estate Garage

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES

SYOSSET, L. I., June 14—

Flanked by the bodies of her two pet dogs, an airedale and a boxer, her inseparable companions, Mrs. Dorothy Ridenour Day, wife of Henry Mason Day, New York broker, was found dead at 2:20 this afternoon in the garage of her estate on Berry Hill Road, by an employe of the family. Three cars were running and the doors were closed. Mrs. Day and her dogs were in the front seat of the station wagon and police of the Second Precinct and detectives of the homicide squad, Nassau County police, said she had committed suicide. No notes were found and Mr. Day, who was called from his office, 120 Broadway, had nothing to say.

Mrs. Day, who was 39 years old, was well known in Oyster Bay and on the North Shore where she lived with her husband on their ten-acre estate. Servants said she had breakfast in her room at 10:30 and went out with the dogs, a daily custom. Nothing was seen of her at lunch time and the dogs did not return. When one of the employes heard the cars running, he opened the garage doors. Mrs. Day wore a simple silk print dress, no stockings and open-toed shoes and her wrist watch. The woman and the dogs, according to the medical examiner, Dr. Arthur Jacques, had died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The couple had no children.

Ceramics Have Wide Use

Ceramics are being used for fire grates, cooking utensils, bathroom fixtures and as outlet boxes for electric fixtures, while wood has been found a worthy substitute for such items as baby carriage parts, furniture springs, haircombs, pails, wash-board surfaces, curtain rods, door mats, knife handles, house gutters, sport-goggle frames, toys and laundry hampers.

As to the future of substitution, it is the opinion of experimenters and manufacturers and of the Conservation Division of the War Production Board, according to the OWI, that the possibilities of such substitutions in consumer goods have about reached their peak.

"Many of the materials originally suggested and planned for substitutes are now themselves on the critical list, and even though the material itself may be plentiful, labor is not," it was explained.
"Many items cannot be satisfactorily substituted. If something happens to the mica in the electric toaster, there is at present nothing which can replace it. Nor can more mica be obtained.

"What is now needed is a definite program of conservation within the home itself. What is now in the home should be treated as gently and as scientifically as a new baby. Minor repairs should be attended to immediately. Items designed for one use should not be experimented with for another use."

Day - Isle of Wight County.

Will of John Day: In the name of God, Amen. I John Day of the County of Isle of Wight being sick and weak, but in perfect memory do make, ordain and constitute this writing as and for my last will and testament. Imprimis, I give to my loving wife Betty Day the plantation I now live on and the following negroes, to wit; Betty, Pete, Anthony, Jenny and Rose, for and during her natural life and after her decease, it is my desire that the land and negroes be sold and the money equally divided between all my children. Imprimis, I give to my aforesaid wife six cows and calves, twelve ewes, two sows and pigs, six grown hogs, my riding chair and harness, one horse called Thompson, one bed and furniture one-half dozen chairs, one table, all the poultry on the plantation I now live on; it is my desire she may have her choice in all the above articles, which I give to her and her heirs forever.

Imprimis: I leave all the lands I am entitled to in Smithfield and my moiety of a mill and plantation with everything thereon belonging to my Executors hereafter to be named in trust to be by them disposed of to the best advantage and the money arising therefrom to be applied towards the payment of my just debts.

Item: It is my desire, that the mill plantation and the Day's Neck plantation should not be broke up until after Christmas next, but that my Executors should sell whatever they see occasion for, when it appears to them, it can be done to the best advantage, provided nothing be sold that is making or finishing a crop, and I request my Executors to see that the stocks of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs be put in as good order as possible before they be sold.

Item: It is my desire that my wife have whatever is made on the plantation I now live on, this year and all the bacon and my estate supply her with a sufficiency of corn until the twelfth day of Oct. next and that she keep all the children and family as is now here until Christmas.

Suit: Saveall-lessee of Day

Spendall and Maund.

Special Verdict:

We of the Jury, find that George Norseworthy dead, died seized and possessed in fee simple of the ~~land~~ premises in dispute.

We find that the said George Norseworthy duly made his last will and testament in writing dated the first day of February in the year MDCC, and that the said will was duly proved in the County Court of Nansemond on the twelveth day of June in the year MDCCV and that the said will was admitted to record.

We find an attached copy of the said will to which we refer:

We find that the said testator amongst other things devised in his last will as followeth, to wit:

"Item, I give to my daughter Julian Norseworthy that tract of land lying on the southern branch of the Elizabeth River to her and her heirs lawfully begotten, forever and for want of such heirs then to my son John Norseworthy and his heirs male lawfully begotten forever, for want of such heirs, then to my son George Norseworthy and his heirs male lawfully begotten forever, and for want of such heirs, then to my son Charles and his heirs male lawfully begotten forever and for want of such heirs, then to my son Thomas and his heirs male lawfully begotten forever, and for want of such heirs then to return to my cousin William Norseworthy and his heirs male forever."

We find that the said Julian the devisee entered into the said premises and was thereof seized and afterwards intermarried with one James Day, by whom she left issue at her death, two sons, James Day her eldest son and heir at law and Thomas Day her youngest son.

We find that after the death of the James Day the father and the said Julian his wife, the said James Day the son entered into the said premises and was thereof seized and that the said James Day the son sold and conveyed the said premises to William Maund the father of the said deft. by deeds dated the fourth and sixth days of October in the year MDCCXII, which deeds were duly recorded in the County court of Norfolk to which deeds we refer.

We find that after the conveyance aforesaid to wit in and about the year 1700, the said James Day the son departed this life leaving issue two children, both daughters, to wit Mary and Martha his concubines, who had children and without issue.

We find that the said Mary the survivor of the said daughters departed this life about five or six years since.

We find that the said Thomas Day the second son of the said Devise departed this life in the lifetime of the said Mary, his niece leaving Thomas Day the Lessor of the Flt. an infant, his eldest son and heir at law.

We find that the said Thomas Day the Lessor of the Flt. arrived at lawful age on the fourth day of September last.

We find that the said Maund etc.

Will Book No. 17, Page 305, Essex County Records.

Lettsworth, Louisiana
September 1, 1938

Mr. Carroll Goodrich
Smithfield, Virginia

Dear Sir:

From the "William and Mary" magazine, vol. 30, p. 120, I learned that you have in your possession an old family Bible which contains records pertaining to the Day family. I am tracing my ancestry thru my great-grandfather, Dr. Richard Hance Day, who was the son of Robert Joseph Day and his wife, Mary Hance Day., and the grandson of Robert Day and his wife, who was a Miss Eitonhead before her marriage.

Now, I have all the names of my great-grandfather's brothers, with the dates of each. I also have the dates of Robert Joseph Day and Mary Hance Day. But, I do not have the dates of Robert Day and his wife, who was the Miss Eitonhead before marriage. This Robert Day (who married Miss Eitonhead) had a brother, Dr. Benjamin J. Day, who practiced medicine in Bladensburg, Maryland, and a sister, Ann I y who was called "Nancy" Day and she married Mr. William Dawkins. If this Robert Day (who married Miss Eitonhead) had other brothers and sisters, I do not know.

Will you please assist me? I shall greatly appreciate your kindness and will forever "sing your praises." I often think how simple it would have been had someone become interested in the family-history years ago when my great-grandfather was living, as he could have told so much or could have directed one to the proper person for the data desired. But, I guess that is usually the case. A person doesn't become interested in time, and when he does, he looks around to find the very ones who could help him gone. We have a nice account of my great-grandfather taken from R. French Stone's "Biography of Eminent American Physicians and Surgeons," published in 1894. But, it is the ancestors further back which we want to investigate now. Will you please copy the births, marriages, and deaths with the names and dates and send them to me? It will mean so much to me in my investigation. I should like to see how your data fits in with what I have already. Unfortunately, most of my investigating has to be done by correspondence, which takes a long time, as I live far out in the country away from libraries which might contain genealogy records. I have a distant cousin living in Los Angeles, who has looked up things for me in the genealogy room of the Library of Los Angeles, and in this manner I acquired your name. We believe we have a direct line back to about 1697, but we want to be sure, as we don't want anything but the truth in our line. We have a record of the first Robert Day who came to this country in 1604 from England, and we hope to link to this one, as we believe him to be the original ancestor. Now, just any thing pertaining to this subject which you might write me will be greatly appreciated. Nothing is too trivial. And, I am interested in general information as well as in specific dates and names. So, will you please tell me all you know of the family? I believe all the "Day" family was one and the same somewhere and somehow in years gone by, back on the continent, and that the ancestors came over separately and have since branched out until the different groups are unknown. After all, there are too many, now, to actually keep track of.

I might mention that I am going to use this information for a purely "harmless" purpose. I am compiling data on as many different branches of the family as possible, which I have to make into a booklet, for my little four-year old daughter. Interest and curiosity have prompted this investigation. I do not intend to use the data for purposes of "bragging on family," as I have much contempt for one who bores others with his family facts...and, if we investigate such a character, we usually find a weakling unable to stand upon his own feet. I used to gaze in amazement at anyone tracing family-history and thought "how foolish" each time I saw one pursuing names and dates of a hundred or more years. But, I suppose we all change in some way as we grow older, and I have changed in interest in this respect. I must admit, however, that I do have a pride in family, insofar as I think each generation should try to live up to the standards of good citizenship set by those who have gone before or should try to improve those standards where necessary or possible.

And in the meantime, I do hope that I have not bored you to tears with this tirade. My consideration that is given this letter will be greatly appreciated. I forgot to mention that this particular branch of the Day family came from Calvert County, Maryland. I'm sure our search would have been quite simple had a fire in 1848 in that place not destroyed all the civil and church records. Therefore, we have only the Bible information, here and there, to rely upon.

With best wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,

P.S. We have a chart of Hance information which we have unearthed, but due to the fact that we do not know the parents' names, we do not know which <sup>Mary Hance</sup> to claim as our ancestor. Mary Hance Day died and Robert Joseph Day then married Ann Hance, sister of his first wife. Can you tell me anything about the parents of these two sisters who were wives of Robert Joseph Day? Or, anything about their brothers and sisters?

We do not know the full name of the Miss Eltonhead who married Robert Day. Nor do we know anything of her parents, etc. Can you give us any information along this line? The Eltonhead family disappeared completely from Maryland, but there are numerous records of the Elton family in Virginia, after the time the family became extinct in Maryland. We thought that perhaps they are "led the head" from the name and went back to the original Elton, as it had been years before, in England.

 our Mary

Dear Mr. Chapman,

Your name has been given me as a genealogist. I am trying to find the father of William Bay. I think he was born in 1785.
I have been told he was in 1810.
I thought he was before 1800 and I thought he was the father of William Bay might be there. Am enclosing the names of his brothers and sisters.
What are your charges for such

The records of this office show that one James Day served in the Revolutionary War as a private in Captain Thomas Massie's Company 6th Virginia Regiment commanded by Lieutenant Colonel James Hendricks, and later by Colonel Thomas Elliott. He enlisted to serve to March 11, 1778. His name is borne on the records from June 16 to November -, 1777. No later record found, and the county in which he resided is not shown.

The collection of Revolutionary War records in this office is far from complete, and it is suggested as a possibility that additional information may be obtained from the Librarian, Virginia State Library, Richmond, or from the Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C.

No record has been found in this office of the service in the Revolutionary War in a Virginia organization of a Captain named Thomas Day.

However, the records show that one Thomas Day served in that war as a private in Captain James Foster's Company, 15th Virginia Regiment, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel James Innes. His name first appears on the company muster roll for June, 1777, dated July 10, 1777, which shows that he enlisted January 10, year not shown, for three years. The company muster roll for July, 1777, dated August 7, 1777, shows him: Sick Morristown; the company muster roll for August, 1777, dated September 1, 1777, shows him: Sick Philadelphia, and the company muster roll for September, 1777, dated October 14, 1777, shows him: Dead.

The collection of Revolutionary War records in this office is far from complete, and it is suggested as a possibility that additional information may be obtained from the Librarian, Virginia State Library, Richmond, or from the Veterans Administration, Washington, D.C., which has custody of the U.S. pension records.

Dear Mrs. Chapman,

Thanks very much for the note in your letter of March 2. As a people interested in the Surry name I have really no knowledge. All my work is private, not professional, - and the only correspondent I have had who was at all interested was a woman in Texas who wanted Flood information. It was eni-dich that she did not descend from the Surry family of that name. I wrote Mrs. Henry L. Cook, the Irish American & Virginia Lady, 811 East State Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. that I would take the liberty of referring you to her for the name of people interested in Serry genealogy. Your proposed circular, which I return, seems quite the right thing.

I note that you speak of restoring the L. of M. green book that I thought was at the court house last summer. Most likely I have confused the books. What I thought was the Green Book has indeed one way and means record and contains the will of Nathaniel Baldy of 1719. Am I wrong in calling this the Great Book?

I sent you recently the note that proves Juliana to have been the wife of James Day in 1715 or 16. I remember taking this largely as a hint at age of James Day. You see my first doubt as to the identity of Mary Day Johnson Gledhill came when I saw that her children were all under age in 1700 and that James Day had been closely enough connected with the Bennetts to be named in General Richard Bennett's will in 1676 and to be in possession of Bennett land by 1679.

The naming of Elizabeth first would indicate her to be the eldest - and she was under 18. She was married by 1706; how much earlier I don't know. But in that year she was named in Silvester Hill's will as wife of Nathaniel Ridley. As women frequently married as young as 14, I have little evidence for time of her birth. She had a child by Matthew Jones whom she married after death of Nathaniel Ridley in 1719. The wording of Nathaniel's will indicates that the children were all under age at the making up'g. I have detailed notes & show how soon the eldest son was exercising the rights of majority.

But James Day<sup>II</sup> was named executor of his mother's will in 1712 - and presumably was at least 21 then. That would push his birth there at least as early as 1690. If Elizabeth were older, her birth would be earlier - say about 1688 at least. No wife friend James Day<sup>I</sup> in his deed to Webb. He looks to me as if James Day<sup>I</sup> married after he came to Virginia. Have you ever calculated the ages of the children of Charles and Anne Chapman & arrive at any approximate date for the marriage.

The books in the library of Charles Chapman Sr. indicate that he was an educated man. If I can remember the matter this summer in New York I shall look among the alumni of Oxford and Cambridge to see if I can find mention of him.

I thought that mutilated 1730-39 Surry book was photographed last year. There was some mention of it where I was in Richmond. I have seen the Quaker records there. I didn't look for a Jordane-Thomas marriage there. I just failed. I was there interested in the Bray-Bresic connection and thought I had it until I got some data from Bristol Parish. Samuel Dickins married Jane the daughter of Thomas Vaughan of Southampton by his second wife Mary, daughter of Edward Lewin and wife Mary who was the daughter of Francis and Elizabeth Bresic. This last pair I took to be Francis Bresic who married Elizabeth Grigg in 1713 until I found that Elizabeth Miss Bracy died in 1724 and the other in Milledenbury. Then I thought Francis the son of this pair until I found that his eldest child was born in 1724. So I don't know just who my Francis was. The repetition of names indicate connection with the L of M family. But there for I haven't found it.

Cordially yours,

Rupert Taylor

December 12, 1931

Mrs. Lewis L. Chapman,
Smithfield, Virginia.

Dear Mrs. Chapman,

Your letter of December 2 was very welcome as it introduced to me some one else who is interested in the Bland-Bennett-Day puzzle. Unfortunately I was not yet able to identify the sisters Swann and Chapman.

The usual genealogical accounts state that James Day married Mary, the daughter of Mrs. Mary Cropley of London who had been the wife of Thomas Bland and was the daughter of Edward Bennett of London, herself the sister of Silvestra Hill. Extant land grants prove her the daughter of Bennett and sister of Madame Hill. At the time of the grants she was the wife of Thomas Bland. The will of Major General Bennett in 1674 shows that she was then the wife of Luke Cropley. Day in his will calls her honored mother and the wording indicates that she was alive.

Servant by 1711 was wife of John Sears and in line of other evidence, accepted her as sister Servant and Aunt Sears. But in an account of the Blacks in Richmond Critic of 1888 and another account of Servant or Sears I found the statement that this Elizabeth was the daughter of William Thompson of Massachusetts. The evidence for the statement was not given. If this is true, she and Mary Day must have been sisters or she was half-sister to Day.
Then Anne Chapman might be her sister and Aunt-in-law of Day. But when Charles Chapman gave information in 1694 he proved the information of his wife and children. It seems more likely that she was born and married in England; therefore blood sister of Day, or Mary Day if she were English. But Silvestra Hill in her will mentioned Anne Chapman but not Elizabeth Servant or Sears.
It seems then that Anne was blood sister to her, and that Elizabeth was not.

If you will read James Day's will you will see that when it was made his daughter Elizabeth was under 18 and the sons under 21. The mentioning of Elizabeth first is indication - but not final proof that she was the elder. She was therefore born later than 1682. But James Day is mentioned in the will of Richard Bennett in 1674 (or 76, I am not sure of date but not later than 76) If Day was related by marriage then he must have been married to Mary Cropley's daughter by that date. Where are the children for those six years? Large families were the rule in those times.

In looking for an answer I found a possible one in the theory that James Day was the son of Mary Bennett by a marriage before the Bland connections. I found a London will of 1654 of John Day leaving children John, James, Elizabeth, Anne to wife Mary to whom he left all his property and whom he made sole executor. I found the marriage of Mary Bland and Luke Cropley with their ages.
The law grant very carefully limits the lands to the heir of Mary Bland. I have also found the will of a Thomas Bland of London two years before the Cropley marriage leaving all property to wife & carefully cutting out a sister & her children, as if he had no children of his own. I have also a pedigree of the Bennetts from a Shroton's visitation stopping before birth of Mary and Silvester. but I have baptismal record of a Silvester sr. of Edward and Mary Bennett. I have probate records of Bennett wills but not copies of the wills. you will divine that for the English materials I am dependent on what I can find in print. This is scanty.

What I have written affords only the framework of circumstantial evidence. Mrs. Smithwick insists that she found conclusive proof in the 1 of 2 records. When I was in I 2 W last June one of the record books was at the binders and I therefore could not examine it. I did not find the alleged proof in the other books. If you wish to examine this book, you might find it. The Day land seems to be the land granted Mary and Thomas Bland. Perhaps the fact that Day owned the land may have been interpreted as evidence that Mary Day was their daughter. There may be a deed to Day in this book. Maybe you have a note of it.

years ago, before Catherine Boyd Nelson was born, I visited Log or looking for Gold and Thomas material. Mrs. Smithwick of Memphis had been working on the Day family in the expectation of writing a book and consequently I did not take Day notes in the earliest entries. But as I went along reading the book page by page my eye caught something that made me doubt Mary Day's being the daughter of Mary Cropley. I made some scattered notes and was forced to leave as my time was up. Mrs. Smithwick insists she has the data to prove it, but guards her materials closely, on guard against possible exploitation of any kind and mistrustful of every approach.

All the basis of what I had I identified Mary Day as the daughter of Joseph Bridger because her son speaks of Aunt Elizabeth Levi and Joseph's daughter Elizabeth married Thomas ~~Levi~~. This summer I discovered that Mary Bridger's husband Tabbitt was alive at the time James and Mary Day were married. So I promptly discarded that. I found in Suny County that Elizabeth wife of Thomas

I shall be glad to exchange material with you. What we both want is the truth. I have never been very jealous of what I have, though I have on occasion asked that what I give should not be passed on. I shall be glad to send you the Eccelesiah data book with the string attached, for I do not want it to get, through any unforeseen and unintended channel, back to one or two persons who have been reticent with me. If you have the time perhaps you can find something in that volume I couldn't see. For instance, in looking through my notes this afternoon I saw a possibility that Elizabeth Clothier might be Elizabeth Swann Lear.

married in Virginia.

I find in later census' that a John Hay was living in the same house and I had thought that my eldest son. Although the John is shown
